

Why Achieve AS 9100 or ISO 9001 Certification?

Companies today must not only meet, but also continually improve quality requirements to fulfill customer demands. When your company achieves ISO 9001 or AS 9100 certification, you customarily satisfy these demands by optimizing business processes while adapting to organizational changes, continuously delivering top-quality products and services.

Power Your Business Forward.

SurePath from Management Systems International (MSI) ensures successful certification.

ISO 9001- The Quality Standard

ISO 9001 specifies requirements for implementing a quality management system (QMS) to:

- » Address, integrate and improve sales, design, purchasing, production and other business processes
- » Ensure quality products and services that consistently fulfill customer, legal and other requirements
- » Enhance customer confidence in products and services

- » Ensure quality products and services from aerospace and defense companies that consistently fulfill customer, legal and regulatory requirements
- » Enhance customer confidence in aerospace and defense products and services

AS 9100- The Quality Standard for Aerospace and Defense

AS 9100 specifies requirements for a quality management system incorporating aerospace and defense requirements to:

- » Address, integrate and improve the aerospace and defense supply chain

MSI - Your Superior Source for a Quality Solution

POWER YOUR BUSINESS FORWARD

Management Systems International (MSI) expertly implements quality management systems (QMS) to power your business forward by achieving ISO 9001 and AS 9100 certification. Although ISO 9001 and AS 9100 standards provide requirements for a quality management system, you need an experienced consulting firm to adapt these requirements to your unique business – without disrupting day-to-day operations.

As part of our full suite of turnkey and customized solutions, we offer you the SurePath® turnkey solution. SurePath tools and procedures allow us to proficiently:

- » Develop an implementation plan with detailed tasks and an achievable time-line to be presented to your management team for approval
- » Define and document your business procedures pertinent to the ISO 9001 or AS 9100 standard and your operations
- » Manage the implementation of operational procedures
- » Train you on ISO 9001 or AS 9100, offering a wide range of courses
- » Coach you through management systems review meetings
- » Train and guide you on internal audits
- » Coordinate audits with the registrar to ensure ISO 9001 or AS 9100 certification

How long does implementation take? We typically complete it in six months – sometimes three, depending on your company's size, complexity, products and services. Implementation includes documenting your business processes.

As a result, you valuably:

- » Streamline systems, processes and documentation to eliminate gaps, redundancy and waste
- » Improve operational efficiency and performance to further your competitive edge
- » Increase customer confidence in product and service quality and reliability
- » Meet and integrate corporate policies and objectives
- » Greatly enhance customer satisfaction
- » Boost profitability for your company
